PREFACE

Project taken is a social project which is basically for the children who are not normal, means the are handicapped and they are about 4 to less than 18 years old. This include physically, mentally, socially handicapped children's. This project is for teaching of these children's, also having medical, diagnostic and vocational training.

The role of these organizations includes providing a voice of their own, identifying needs, expressing views on priorities, evaluating services and advocating change and public awareness. As a vehicle of self development, these organizations provide the opportunity to develop skills in the negotiation process, organizational abilities, mutual support, information sharing and often vocational skills and opportunities. In view of their vital importance in the process of participation, it is imperative that their development be encouraged.

Disabled people's organizations play many roles at the local, national and international levels for disabled people, governments, service providers and the general public. In many cases, the organizations of disabled people are the best vehicle to carry out the aspirations of people with disabilities. After all, disabled people, from their own personal experiences best know their needs, aspirations and abilities. One of the main themes of the World Programme of Action is the importance of Organizations of Disabled Persons. It calls upon governments to encourage their development and utilize their expertise.

CHAPTER 01: Introduction

1.1 PROJECT TITLE:

The title of the project is “Institute For Special Children’s”

1.2 INTRODUCTION:

Project taken is a social project which is basically for the children who are not normal, means they are handicapped and they are about 4 to less than 18 years old. This includes physically, mentally, socially handicapped children’s. This project is for teaching of these children’s, also having medical, diagnostic and vocational training.

1.2.1 Need Of the Project:

Present institutes for special children in Pakistan are not having the required environment, modern techniques of treating such students. Also there is no consideration taken on the environment provided for quick recovery of such children’s.

So I decided to plan the institute for special children’s with the environment which would be suitable for their treatment and quick recovery and also give them home feeling.

1.3 CLIENT:

Clients of the project are:

- Ministry of health
- UNICEF

1.3.1 Client Brief:

In Pakistan record of handicap children’s are not very encouraging so government of Pakistan with the collaboration of UNICEF has launched a special programme which will lead to improve the existing facilities and activities for special children’s for this reason client want to build an institute for special children’s which will serve this purpose.

1.4 AIMS & OBJECTIVES:

The main objective is to help the special students to regain their self-esteem and to make contributed members of the society by providing them encouraging and sympathetic environment. Programs for the welfare of the community should be arranged. There are others specific aims have been adopted which are as follows:

- To establish vocational training centers, guidance centers for special children’s.
- There should not only be a well functional but also esthetically pleasing institute which attracts the students.
- To assist the special children’s to find suitable employment.
- Interior takes a very serious role in institute for special children’s so it must be well planned.
- There should be each minor detail in consideration for the users of the institute so that they don’t get confused in any thing.
