ABSTRACT

The luxury hotel industry has become a significant segment of the general.

Hotel star rating systems are widely recognized as the definitive way to ascertain a hotel's overall quality, but the rankings can differ wildly from one country to another.

As it turns out, each country usually has its own way to rank hotels from one to five stars, established by a range of authorities, from tourism bodies to government agencies.

But while there's no international standard that hotels across the world adhere to, stars do pertain to a hotel's level of service, amenities, cleanliness, location and price.

Hospitality industry and is undergoing expeditious expansions. The aim of thesis project is to understand the technical function of a hotel complex. Its relationship with surrounding with emphasis on exterior setting in conjunction with interior view and outlook. Hotel provides regarding tourism, recreation, business etc.

The city of Faisalabad is referred to as business heart of Pakistan. Welcome a lot of foreigner's business class for trading and other purposes. For this reason my motto is to provide luxurious accommodation and services to these users that they should not be deprived of having a hotel with standards facilities.

Besides solving out the accommodation problems I have an opportunity to solve problems in hotel design and create interesting forms and good views through natural and built environments.

INTRODUCTION:

This thesis project focuses on the significance of the city of Faisalabad; the society, the culture, the individual identity in a globalized world.

Pakistan has made a little progress in the field of trade, industry and agriculture at both national and international level. We must learn to improve the quality of our products and to judge the relative merit and standard with the product of other countries so that we can provide strength and stability to our economy. So these centers provide opportunities to tradesman, industrialists, and scientist etc. to project their achievement and convey their message to the general public as well as to the foreign manufactures.

There are only one 4 star hotels in Faisalabad which is Serena hotel. And other hotels like Dee Continental Hotel Faisalabad, National Hotel Faisalabad, Hotel One Faisalabad are 3 star hotels, and other one is Chenab club.
