

Spousal Infidelity, Reliance, Conjugal Vow, and Conjugal Gratification in Wives during Husband's Oversea Employment

BY

Bukhatawar Khan

ID:15001261033

Supervisor

Sir Wasif Ali Waseer

Department of Sociology

School of Social Science and Humanities

University of Management & Technology,

Lahore

2017

Dedication

This dissertation is dedicated to all spouses of oversea employment whose commitment to the family needs and our country is greatly appreciated. You are often forgotten despite the fact that you are escalating the name and fame of our country globally. An overseas employed spouse is often left caring for children, his parents, worrying about a spouse in the line of distance and all the while feeling socially, emotionally and intimately deprived. An overseas employed spouse needs some encouragement to get through the tough times. An overseas employed needs recognition for the countless hours of increased household duties in the absence of a mate. I am grateful for your sacrifice and vow and I admire your resilience. You and your children are suffering a lot that are often forgotten. Elizabeth Edwards demonstrated resilience throughout her challenging life, and she hoped that her grandchildren would once be able to say, “She stood in the storm, and when the wind did not blow her way (and it surely has not), she adjusted her sails.” This saying applies to all overseas employed spouses who had to cope with the realities of overseas employment.

Acknowledgments

I would like to thank my family, friends and faculty for the support offered throughout my M. Phil. program. Their encouragement and support helped me remain dedicated throughout this long journey. My father, Abdul Muqet Khan (late), has endured long hours of loneliness while I stayed up or went away to clear my mind and brainstorm new ideas. My sisters, Rukhsana Shah, Noreen Malik and Aqsa Muqet never gave up on me, but rather believed in me and my ability to complete this research project. Their words of encouragement and prayers kept me motivated and believing that there would be a light at the end of the tunnel. Sir Wasif Waseer, my dissertation supervisor and mentor, provided invaluable guidance and assistance throughout the entire research process. Personal faith in Allah Almighty has kept me hopeful and believing that through Him who strengthens me, nothing is impossible.

Abstract

Over numerous decades Pakistan is confronting enormous unemployment, in consequence of this social issue roughly 5.9% individuals moved out from Pakistan to abroad country to procure bread and butter for their families; accordingly, spouses are stood up to with novel social conjugal hitches. Various analysts have recorded the effects of oversea's employment on social conjugal and families. Nonetheless, couple of sociologists has investigated the association between professed panorama of Spousal infidelity, reliance, conjugal vow, and conjugal gratification in wives whose husbands were employed oversea's. This quantitative research is built on Interdependence Theory, Risk and Resilience Theory and Attachment Theory, by using an online survey the researcher will investigate the association between spousal infidelity, reliance, conjugal vow, and conjugal gratification respectively in a sample of 158 respondents i.e. wives who are left by their husbands in Pakistan because of social and monetary intricate details. The findings from this survey can exhort setting up intense undertakings to bolster such marriages whose spouses are employed oversea's. Such undertakings will propel social change by enhancing gratification, diminishing relationship clashes, and lessening the rate of separation and divorce in Pakistan. The spouses living in such social conditions may benefit by the significances of this review by tending to conjugal duty and reliance issues preceding arrangement, in this way supporting spouses, husbands, and children during oversea's employment.

Keywords: Spousal Infidelity, Reliance, Conjugal Vow, Conjugal Gratification and Oversea's Employment.

Introduction to the Study

Unemployment Rate in Pakistan diminished to 5.90 percent in the final quarter of 2015 from 6 percent in the final quarter of 2014. Unemployment Rate in Pakistan arrived at the midpoint of 5.46 percent from 1985 until 2015, achieving an untouched high of 7.80 percent in the second quarter of 2002 and a record low of 3.10 percent in the final quarter of 1987 (Antonio J Fernandes Sousa, 2017). As an outcome 5.9% people moved out from Pakistan to abroad nation-state to get bread and spread for their families (Sekho Corporation, 2017). This implies out of 3620,000 individuals of Pakistan are unemployed out of which around 43.7% of male spouses are procuring from three years for their families oversea's(The Global Economy, 2017). Different experts have recorded the impacts of oversea's work on social conjugal and families (Gittleston, 2011).Specifically, both spouse and family tends to develop distraught, loneliness, frustration, anxiety and depression during the period of oversea employment (Chew, 2017)ⁱ.Separation, Divorce (Andrew S., 2012); (Lundquist, 2007), aggressive behavior at home(J. E. McCarroll, 2008); (Somerville, 2009)and self-destructive practices(S.C. Bagley, 2010); (J. Martin & Tucciarone, 2009); (E.A. Selby, 2005)are different genuine results of abroad work in conjugal social institute that are frequently experienced by wives deserted by their husband's oversea's employment can likewise increment some conjugal clashes prompting to budgetary contradiction, infidelity and doubt, parental contradiction and additionally legitimate partition and conjugal disintegration (Lynne M. Borden, 2008). In ephemeral, concluding experiences fallouts in spousal infidelity, reliance, conjugal vow, and conjugal gratification in wives whose husbands were employed oversea's(McCray, 2015).

ⁱ An interviewee narrated: Not attempting to "whine" but rather go ahead it gets old being hitched for a long time and sleeping alone, eating alone, going to family occasions alone, bringing up children alone and for what a compensation check and I'm assume to bow down and kiss the ground since I have a rooftop over my head. I don't have anybody to touch, to converse with, to lay down with, to help me, to be with and to have an association with. Yes I'm appreciative and perhaps that is the reason we stay since we feel quilt in light of the fact that we know they are quite recently working yet who can wake up for a long time after day and feel glad when they just observe their mates 2 or 3 times in every four years??? I sincerely believe it's a hard thing to manage and I've been truly discouraged and desolate for a considerable length of time. On the off chance that being cheerful my significant other works is sufficient to make somebody upbeat then I recognize them (Gittleston, 2011).