Acknowledgment

First of all I want to thank our Dean Prof. Dr. Yousaf Awan for his continuous support for this project. He was always there to listen my problems and hurdles and to give me advice on how to solve the issues .He is responsible for involving us in this entire project throughout. He taught us different ways to explore the problems and need to be persistent to accomplish any goal. I also appreciate the department faculty who was there constantly to help us on almost daily basis especially Sir Sajjad Haider, Mam Memoona Rashid, And Mam Faiqa Khilat who gave us permission to keep up different ideas. Most important thing we used Architecture Studios which have been specified for final year student of Architecture from our Organization University of Management and Technology on the behalf of Head of Department of Architecture and Town Planning.

Abstract

Faisalabad is famous for its industrial development in textile sector .a community club for the third largest population of Pakistan (2,506,595). Faisalabad is growing dramatically and is developing at a very fast rate compared to other cities. Compared to Lahore even though it has less than ½ the population it however cater more of the business class population.

1.4.1 Culture of Faisalabad

Faisalabad, the third most populated metropolis in Pakistan, after Karachi and Lahore, is an epic centre for trade that has gained popularity for its colonial heritage sites. In 1982, the Government of Punjab established the Faisalabad Arts Council, a division of the Punjab Arts Council which is overseen administratively by the Information, Culture and Youth Affairs Department

1.4.2 Festivals

The Punjabi people celebrate a variety of cultural and religious festivals throughout the Punjab region, such as arts and craft, music, local events, and religious celebrations. The city of Faisalabad customarily celebrates its independence day on 14 August every year by raising the Pakistan flag at the clock tower in the Commissioner Office compound. Bazaars are colorfully decorated for the celebration, government and private buildings are brightly lit, and there are similar flag-raising ceremonies that are typically held in the district and its tehsils.
